The new Directory of Messes, Envire, Bordick

& Co. is now so far advanced that copies will be delivered to subscribers in two or three days The book is at the same time a credit to the compilers and to our city. It is got up of liberal dimensions, handsome heavy white paper, and in large type, and contains about 500 hundred pages, including about 120 of advertisements, which are bound together at the end of the work, and indexed so that the different cards may be easily found.

The book opens, after the preface and general index, with a carofully prepared history of the early settlement, growth, and present condition and advantages of Milwaukee,occupying 12 closely printed pages.

Following this, are rates for Hacks, Cabs and Drays, and the Street Index.

The list of names of residents, occupying 300 pages, and numbering fourteen thousand adult residents, which is, we think, more than twice as many as were ever published in previous directories, follows. A half hour spent in looking ove these names shows the number of each of the following to be as set opposite them; Smith and Schmidt 135, (of which 21 are

Annual Examination of the Milwag-ker Femule College.

The closing exercises and annual examination of the Milwaukee Femala College, on Tuesday and Wednesday of this week, pussed off in a very religianto-ry manner, and exhibited the excellent discipling of the Institution, and the thorough conclurably of the going ladies to good advantage. Quite a number of visitors attended during both days, and all, we believe, were highly pleased with the accomplishments of the young ladles, and much interstud with their various musical and of execution. The first day was occupied in the examination of classes in Geography, Betany, Geology, History, Reading Compositions and Mast at Corrotana.—The young laates were subject to a thorough cross exemeation by literary gentlemen, clergymen, and others in the zu lieuce, and in every case, we believe, answered the questions asked them in a manner which showed that they fully understood the branches in which they

There have been 956 supits in the lastitution the paryour, of which number 66 were in the college proper, and 190 in the preparatory department. The first class of the preparatory school had 181, and the second class of the preparatory within hand the second clause is pupils. The number in the different college clauses were—senior class, 6; middle class, 11; janor class 40. On Wednesday there was a very large attendance of visitors, in cushing many of the energy, and a large number of professional gentlemen, to winces the change are emoties, and the graduating of the senior class. But four graduated with the bonors of the college, viz :- Miss Halvy for Eravion, Miss Eva M. Conurs, Miss Croicia Devutan & Gil Miss

The compositions of the young ladies were all good, original in thought and beautiful in sentiment, many of them highly postcal and imaginative, showing excedent taste, and displaying much depth of shought for percons so young. On the whole, the examination proved to be the most brilliant in the litelory of the institution, and has convinced in more than ever before of its real value. It is indeed so institution of which we may well be proud and will bear favorably comparison with any is the Rev. HAVDER'S INPROVED PATENT WHESL,-We saw yesterday, at the Checquered Warehouse, on Weit-or's Point, a specimen of J. B. Hayden's Patent Wheel, which is intended for every description of weblete, from the heaviest wagon to the lightest buggy; or sulky. It is peculiarly adapted for light carringes, because the wheel manufactured on this principle can be made much lighter, and more dorable than by the common method. The hub is made of cast from, or brass, and so constructed that I can be laken of with ease at any time, should repairing be needed on the wood work, as it is soured to the wheel by a powerful acrowed but The speckes of this wheel for a made as to form a self-supporting arch, with an aporture in the central to recode a pipe box, strongly which the axis passes, and upon the inside of which is a solid dange, and on the outside a trosscene, which, by the nut, is serewed up to the wheel, opposite the other llange, similar to a vice, and thus forces the MENOMOREE BRIDGE.-The bridge committee If for nothing else, deserve great credit for the good or-der in which they keep the city bridges. There is no danger of the city having to foot a big bill for somebody's horse's legs being broken by falling through a bridge, while the present Committee hold their office, at least,— We approve of this because we consider it more profitable to pay for plants then for dead herers. Economica bridge is now being replanted, and all the city bridges have, or late, been thoroughly repaired. Alterman Taylor is Thairman of the bridge Committee, and no more satebial and industrious officer is there in our City Cov.
